Abstract

Since the independence in 1945 thank to the August Revolution to the year of 2013, Vietnamese education has achieved huge results and has undergone several reforms in order to adapt to different objectives and content. In this presentation, I will briefly introduce Vietnamese secondary education in historical view. I then identify the context of each reform (in terms of objectives, solutions, policy and conditions etc.), while trying to seek the strong points and weaknesses. We will spend more time with the current reform project led by the Ministry of Education, "Program after 2015," in which the competency-based approach is emphasized.
