

Voice from lab members

“My hands-on experience with Professor Kadoya’s lab group has been both inspiring and invaluable. The opportunity to collaborate with other researchers while being closely mentored in the lab has enabled me to obtain a deep insight into interesting research topics, improved my research competencies, and strengthened my teamwork abilities. Throughout my doctoral program, the lab has provided me with ample support and the resources necessary to conduct both individual and collaborative research projects. Furthermore, what makes Professor Kadoya’s lab exceptional is that it is a high-quality, research-intensive lab with numerous publication opportunities. Publishing six research papers in high-impact journals has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my PhD. Aside from the academic pursuits, participating in various social activities organized by the Kadoya lab, including indoor & outdoor sports, barbeque food functions, arts & cultural events, and lab trips, has also provided me with an opportunity to enhance my interpersonal skills as well as broadening my network with people of varied backgrounds”.
